Other Restrictions

UBS has implemented a product approval process where it acts as a manufacturer which identifies a target market (and/or negative target market), assesses the relevant risks to the target market and develops a distribution strategy which is compatible with the target market. UBS undertakes testing of the products where it acts a manufacturer which assesses the risks of poor outcomes for clients posed by the product and in which circumstances these may occur.

UBS will regularly review products where it acts as a manufacturer. This regular review will include feedback from distributors as well as an assessment of how the product is performing and whether it continues to meet the needs, characteristics, and objectives of the target market. It will also assess if the product is being distributed to the identified target market and the intended distribution strategy remains appropriate.
